ful, to contemplate the habitual badness, of a mind which when abstracted, could imagine the most glorious things that the worlds of matter and of thought can furnish forth.

"In contemplation how like a God!"

but alas! in the daily ordering of his thoughts, his words, and actions, how much less excellent, than a good man, without a millionth part of his capabilities.

Perhaps, however, Mr. Moore's book may be upon the whole an excellent lesson. It will serve to persuade those whose adoration tends more towards intellect than virtue, that the former without the latter, is all bitterness and vexation of spirit, and that he who would be happy himself, or permanently esteemed by others, must endeavour after goodness, without which, even the greatest man, is as Lord Bacon says, but a "busy mischievous creature, no better than a kind of vermin."—Verbum non amplius addam. Your faithful Correspondent. ## FINE ARTS.

Royal Hibernian Academy.

THE first general quarterly meeting of the Royal Hibernian Academy for the year, was held on Monday, at which it was resolved that a letter should be written to the Royal Academy of England, expressive of the deep regret felt by the Royal Hibernian Academy, on the death of the late lamented president, Sir Thomas Lawrence.

Doctor Johnson, Honorary Professor, presented the Academy with a splendid copy of Doctor Meyrick's valuable work on ancient armour.

Mr. Petrie, Librarian, announced to the Academy, that the Royal Irish Academy had that day resolved on presenting the R. H. Academy with a copy of the entire of their valuable transactions.

We have great pleasure, in perceiving that the library of this important national institution is rapidly increasing in extent and value. The books are, as they should be, almost all connected with History, Antiquities, and the Fine Arts.

The amiable and excellent Counsellor Edward Haughton, has been, we are informed, the principal donor: such disinterested patriotism requires not the need of our praise.

Mr. Cregan, the Academician, has nearly completed a portrait of His Grace the Duke of Northumberland, of which report speaks very favourably.

Mr. Hogan has disposed of his statue of the Redeemer taken from the cross, for four hundred pounds. The price, though small as regards the merits of the work, will not appear inconsiderable, if we reflect on the rate at which modern works of art have hitherto been appreciated in this country. It has been purchased, we understand, for Clarendon-street chapel. We have learned some particulars of this artist, which it may be interesting to the public to know. He was born at Cork, in 1802, and served his apprenticeship to Mr. Deane a respectable architect in that city, by whom he was principally employed in carving figures and other ornamental parts of buildings. From his earliest years, he evinced an extraordinary taste for drawing and sculpture. Some figures which he executed for a Roman Catholic chapel in Cork, attracted the admiration of a gentleman named Carey, well known to the admirers of the Arts in this country, who took, in consequence, a lively interest in the welfare of the young artist, and presented some studies of his to the members of the Royal Irish Institution in Dublin. This institution immediately voted Mr. Hogan a premium of one hundred pounds. The Royal Dublin Society, now purchased the same studies for the use of their drawing school, and the Royal Cork Institution, being apprized of Mr. Hogan's determination to proceed to Rome, to prosecute the study of sculpture as his future profession, voted him a sum of one hundred guineas. With these means Mr. H. proceeded to the "eternal city," about the close of the year 1823, and there applied himself with unwearied assiduity to the study of his art.

The only figures he has hitherto executed in marble, are, we believe, an Eve for the late Lord de Tally, a statue for Mr. Deane of Cork, and that of the dead Christ which has been exhibiting for some time in this city; it was originally intended, we believe, for a chapel in Cork, but the funds of the establishment falling far short of the stipulated sum, they were obliged to permit of its disposal in Dublin. Mr. Hogan intends, we understand, to proceed immediately again to Rome to complete his studies, and to execute the orders he has received since his arrival in Dublin. However we may regret the temporary loss of so promising an artist, we cannot but approve of his determination to go where his powers will be most effectually excited and matured. He carries with him our best wishes, that he may attain that eminent station to which his genius and unassuming manners, the usual concomitant of high powers, so justly entitle him.

Of Mr. Rothwell, our young countryman, who has recently made "so palpable a hit" in London as a portrait painter, we shall take an opportunity of speaking in an early number.

THE DRAMA.

The Dublin Theatre this week was closed. On Monday, we observe it is to re-open, with Downton in the Hypocrite, and Fanny Ayton in Charles the XII.

LITERARY NOVELTIES.

WORKS IN THE PRESS.

Mr. Murray is preparing for publication a series of Landscape Illustrations of the Poems of Lord Byron, to be engraved in the most finished style, after drawings by the most eminent artists.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A. V. S. Shall appear in due time, we are much obliged to him and to S. G. D. for their letters. From both we shall be very glad to hear again. If the latter would combine more incident with his narrative we should relish his communications still more.

Vindex is only postponed for want of room—we shall always be glad to hear from him through the same channel.

* A Dream of the Excise' is inadmissible.

Many poetical and other favours, are necessarily passed over.

The large space devoted to the Life of Lord Byron has compelled us to leave over many articles that were prepared for this number.

The continuation of the article on the Fine Arts in Ireland, in our next.

A DAIR'S LITTLE SPELLING BOOK, on a Plan entirely new, 6d.

This Little Spelling Book is not a copy of others that have gone before it, of which a new Title and some smart engravings are the only recommendations; on the contrary, it is an attempt founded on long and successful experience, to introduce a new and rational system of teaching children the first elements of their own language.

2. ADAIR'S POPULAR LESSONS, for Preparatory Schools, with 60 Engravings, 1s. Being a Sequel to the Little Spelling Book.

3. ADAIR'S SCRIPTURE LESSONS, with 62 Engravings, 1s.

It displays the entire History of our Religion, from the Creation to the Ascension, and addresses the whole to the eye, the imagination, and the understanding.

4. ADAIR'S LITTLE ENGLISH GRAMMAR; being the easiest English Grammar ever published, 1s.

This little Grammar is so composed, that every word in it may be committed to memory, by children between 4 and 8 years of age. The memory is the only faculty which can then be usefully exerted, and there is in this Grammar nothing but what may be, and ought to be, remembered.

5. BOSSUET'S LITTLE LATIN GRAMMAR, being a Sequel to the Latin Word and Phrase Book, and the first of Latin Books, 1s.

6. HAMILTON'S ELEMENTS OF GYMNASTICS and CALISTHENICS, with 44 Engravings, 5s.

Vigorous exercise has always been justly recommended to youth as conducive to health, strength, and growth, but it was reserved for our age to reduce such exercises to a system of practice, which combines grace of action with agility of movement.

This day is published in 8vo. price 10s. 6d. in 11mo.

POPULAR LECTURES on the Study of Natural History and the Sciences, Vegetable Physiology, Zoology—its Animal and Vegetable Relations, and on the Human Faculties, mental and corporeal, as delivered before the Isle of Wight Philosophical Society. By WILLIAM LEMPRIERE, M.D.

A GUIDE TO THE FRENCH LANGUAGE, especially devised for persons who wish to study the Elements of that Language without the assistance of a Teacher. By J. J. P. LE BERTHOX.

London: Printed for Baldwin and Cradock. Also, in 8vo. price 8s.

A KEY TO THE EXERCISES in the above work, by means of which, any person of mature understanding, may acquire the Elements of the French Language practically, as surely as if a professed teacher was sitting by his side; and, with a very superficial knowledge of it, may teach it to others. Directions are given in the Key to parents not accustomed to teach languages, who wish to instruct their children with the assistance of this book, how they must proceed.

Sold by W. F. WAKEMAN, 9, D'Olier-street, Dublin, and by all Booksellers in Ireland.

Anglo-sax and Northumberland Administrations. Just Published by T. Webb, Sackville-street; Saunders, Nassau-street; Fossonby, Grafton-street; and to be had of all other respectable Booksellers, price 2s.

IRELAND in 1829, or the first year's Administration of the Duke of Northumberland administration.

"Let us unite in a fervent prayer for the prosperity of Ireland."

Both Administrations may be had neatly done up together, price 3s., forming a brief record of two most remarkable years in the political existence of our native country.

Sold by W. F. WAKEMAN, 9, D'Olier-street, Dublin, and by all Booksellers in Ireland.

Handsomely printed in small 8vo. with ten plates, price 7s. 6d. a new edition of.

A NEW SYSTEM OF DOMESTIC COOKERY, formed upon principles of Economy, and adapted for the use of private families. Comprising also the Art of Carving—Observations on the Management of the Dairy and Poultry Yard—Instructions for Home Brewery, Wines, &c.—Cookery for the Sick, and for the Poor—many very useful Miscellaneous Receipts and Directions proper to be given to Servants, both in Town and Country. To which is prefixed, an Essay on Domestic Economy and Household Management, comprising many observations which will be found particularly useful to the Mistress of a Family. By a Lady.

"This is really one of the most practically useful books of any which we have seen on the subject. The Lady, who has written it, has not studied how to form expensive articles for luxurious tables, but to combine elegance with economy; she has given her directions in a plain sensible manner, that every body can understand, and these are not confined merely to cookery, but are extended to a variety of objects in use in families; by which means the utility of the book is very much increased indeed."—British Critic.

John Murray, Albemarle-street, sold also by every Bookseller and Newsmen, in England, Scotland, and Ireland. Also, a new edition of the FAMILY RECEIPT BOOK, small 8vo. 7s. 6d.

WORKS IN THE PRESS.

New Edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica. On the 31st of March, 1830, will be published, Part First, price Six Shillings, of a new, greatly improved, and cheap Edition of the

ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA,

Being the Seventh, including the recent Supplement to that Work. With Preliminary Dissertations on the History of the Sciences. By the late Professors Stewart and Playfair, and by the Right Hon. Sir James Mackintosh and Professor Leslie. Illustrated with a new set of Engravings on Steel. To be published in Monthly Parts, and completed in Twenty Volumes Quarto. Edited by Professor Napier.

MOORE AND TEEB'S OE PUBLICATION.

1. By augmenting the contents of the page, but without decreasing the size of the type, the work, while much improved in appearance, will be comprised, notwithstanding the great extension of its matter, in TWENTY Quarto Volumes, handsomely printed on paper of a superior quality: twenty volumes of the present being nearly equal to twenty-four of the former Editions. Each volume will consist of 800 pages, containing a much greater quantity of matter than any similar publication; and the proprietors hold themselves distinctly engaged to the Public, that the work shall not, on any account, exceed TWENTY-ONE Volumes; their present confident belief, at the same time, being that it will be completed in TWENTY.

II. The publication will proceed in MONTHLY PARTS, of which Six will form a volume; each Part thus averaging about 133 pages. The First Part will be published on the thirty-first of March, 1830. As the work is already far advanced at press, and as the printing of the whole will be finished long before the expiration of the period required for issuing the successive MONTHLY PARTS, the Subscribers will have the option, as soon as the whole is printed, of completing at once their copies of the work, or of abiding by the publication in Parts till the end of the series.

III. Each Part will be sold for SIX SHILLINGS, thus making the price of a Quarto volume, of 800 ample pages, only THIRTY-SIX SHILLINGS—a price very considerably lower than that of any similar publication of the day; and which, when the quantity of Matter in each volume, the quality of Paper and Printing, the numerous Engravings, and the ability of the Articles, are taken into account, must be allowed to place the work in a highly advantageous point of view. Considering its execution and extent, it will, indeed, present the cheapest Digest of Human Knowledge that has yet appeared in Britain, in the convenient form of a Dictionary.

Printed for Adam Black, Edinburgh; Simpkin and Marshall, London; and JOHN CUMMING, Dublin.

In a few days will be published, in post 8vo.

price 10s. 6d.
